the said warshouse and shop No. 88 King The statement of facts shows that none of the ent's possession, and which they sold as the mortgegor's assignees in bankrupter, were in the possession of the mortgagor at the time the mortgage was executed, but were acquired by him subsequently and that none of the said goods were purchased with the proceeds of the goods, included in the mortgage or exchanged therefor, about by the best manufacturers in the class of engines except one burgy which was exchanged for used for agricultural purposes, have not been owing

The question presented is whether a mortgage of " formulare and cabinet makers tools that may bereafter come into my watchouse and shop" &c., is valid as against the mortgagor's assigness. Hilliard says, " as a general rule, an assignment will not at law pass chattels not in existence, or not in the ownership of the grantor, or not sufficiently appropriated at the time of the assignment may have effect by a subsequent act of the granter in furtherance of the original disposi-tion." 2 Hill, mtges., p. 336. Supreme Court of the Hawniign Islands .- July Term 1876.

In the matter of the estate of S. Pahi de-OPINION BY HARRIS, J.

This case presents a singular statement of

In the proceedings before the Circuit Judge this John II, who is the same person who propounds the will now under consideration, was a besen, and I hardly think there can be a doubt that pounds the will now under consideration, was a witness, and swore that he (Pubi) died without making a will and he had never heard him say that he had made a will. On the 9th of December 1872, a will of Pubi's was offered for probate at Honoiulu before one of the Justices of the Surveya Court setting as Judge of Probate, which making a will and he had never heard him say that be had made a will. On the 9th of December Honolulu before one of the Justices of the Su-preme Court sitting as Judge of Probate, which will was dated the 9th of March, 1869, in favor of His Majesty Kamebameha V. This will was declared duly proven. The same Ii was a witness and testified that Pohi did not tell him who he had left his property to. On the 20th of October, 1873, the present will was offered for probate. This will bears date, 23d November 1871. It differs from the first will by devising a piece of land in Molokai to J. M. Kanon. The King Kamehameha V had died in

It appears that the application to prove the last mentioned will was made under the name of Kunoa whilst be testified before Judge Form der and at the hearing for probate of the first will under the name of Ii, so that no suspicions were excited regarding his identity, and the second will was declared daly proven. But it having been discovered that the man who propounds the second will under the name of Kanoa, was the same who testified at Lahaina under the name of Motion is made to set aside the probate of the second will as having been fraudulently pro-

It is made to appear that he is known under It is now made to appear that the propon himself wrote the second will on the day of Pa-hi's decease, and the testimony of the witness to the will and of other witnesses as well, who tes-tified to being present, seem to us to be very conclusive on the fact of the will having been

The solution of this singular conduct seems to us to be, that the will was actually made as ter tified to, and that Ii alias Kanoa andertook to suppress it, with a view of depriving the King of his bequest and of dividing the estate between himself and another relative of the deceased, that when the first will was propounded, the con-aciousness of his first sin, made him afraid to being forward the second will, and now the death of King Kamelameha V., combined with the desize of possessing the property and, as it is said, a fear of being displaced from it, has induced him to bring forward the second will.

good reason for moving to set aside the probate, and if the proof was not so strong, that the will in question was really executed by a person having a knowledge of what he was doing and intending that the property should go as he devised, the conduct of the proponent of the will would undoubtedly brenk it down.

We are, however, convinced that the fraud was in the proceedings before Judge Fornauder at Mani, that Ii alias Kanoa fraudulently suppressed the second will the second will, and that it is the last will and testament of Pehi and so we do adjudge; but we hkewise adjudge that It or Kanoa shall pay all the costs which have been incorred from the attempt to prove the will dated the 9th of March 1869, which was admitted Dec. 9th 1872, to the

Fuel on Plantations,

To the Editor of the Haumitan Gazette :-San :- Doubtless the question of economising foel is one greatly concerning us as growers of cone and manufacturers of sugar. The rate at which our for ests are destroyed, both by the are and by estile. nises soon to leave us depending on cane trush or

How can our planters more thoroughly economies their feel? Any one who can satisfactorily answer this question, even in a modified way, or who can Rim Knob Locks, Chest and Pattocks, Ac. throw out any suggestions, should I think communicate his fileas in such wise that, those who are most interested may see them, -hence, Mr. Editor, I take goods and chattels which came into the defend- the literty of addressing you and hope that the few crude thoughts here thrown out may be of some use. 'Tis true, 'tis said that " Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," but then angels are, as I rule, I suspeet, rather conservative.

about by the best manufacturers in the class of engines a set of faraiture which was in the possession of solely, or oven in larger part, to the excellency of the said Bonnell at the time of the execution of their workmanship, and the adoption of all the best means of economicing steam; for although both the one, and the other, have had their share in the result, yet there is another and most important point to which the astute and practical minds of the manuwhich the acuse and practical minus of the mana-facturers have been attentively turned. That point is the stoking. The old system was to feed the fur-nace as reidom as possible, say four or five times an boar, and consequently a large quantity of feel had to be put in the furnace at one time, and as a matter of fact a frest deal of smoke had to go up the chimney. Much smoke means a disastrous wasts of feet. The made now practiced in all competitive trials between rival manufacturers, to test the comparative economy of their machinery is, to stoke may forty to facty-five times an hour, throwing in a very small quantity of fact at one time. This being easily acted on by the fire, fiame and heat result, with little or no illustration and which is fully supported by all the matherities.

It is true that a person may grant personal property of which he is potentially though not actually possessed. A man may therefore grant all the wool that shall grow on the sheep, which he awas at the time of the grant, but not the be owns at the time of the grant, but not the wood which shall grow on sheep not his, but which he afterwards may buy."

Barnard vs. Eaton, 2 Cush., 294. Moody vs.
Wright, 13 Met., 31.
In the case of Hardy vs. Roggles et al., 1 Hawaiian R. p. 231. Judge Robertson said. "The most objectionable feature in the mortgage and one upon which I have reflected deeply is the clause which includes in the transfer "all the inson cease to be careful. The Srst part of the pro-monies arising from the sale of the stock in the store at the time the mortgage was executed, such provision must be regarded as void so far as third parties are concerned."

This mortgage then of goods which Donnell did not own when the mortgage was made and which were not in his possession, is void as which were not in his possession, is void as against his creditors and also as against his creditors and also as against his method was discovered to feed them into the forance signess in bankroptcy who represent them.

The point made by the plaintiff that he took possession of these goods on the day of the bankrupt's failure but before the attachment by the Marshal, cannot avail him affe, for it would be trespass for him to take goods which were not covered by his mortgage.

As regards the buggy; it is admitted that it was received by Donnell in exchange for a set of furniture which was in his possession at the time the mortgage was executed and covered by it.

Without discussing other authorities, it seems to us that it falls within the principle of flarly we. Roggles above cited that is, it is the "fruit, and springs naturally out of the chattels enhanced and paid for with the proceeds of the original coods." for the buggy was substituted for the and paid for with the proceeds of the original coods. for the buggy was substituted for the buller, and the ordinary fire door substituted in its pace of fermiture, and that would be no different from selling the farmiture and with the proceeds purchasing the buggy.

Lodgment for plaintiff for $162.50. Costs

The London Times commenting upon it says the stigst is passed between a couple of rollers, which spread it out lightly with a lateral fan like motion, exposing it to the full force of the fire. One man only is required to supply it, reducing the average constant of the full force of the fire. man only is required to apply to, remaining the average consumption of straw to something like four times the weight of coal. It is exceedingly rimple, and indeed its general utility must depend almost entirely on its simplicity in a country where the laborers have been only accustomed to the most primitive implements, and where the most skilled artisan to be found within reach is probably an ordinary village black-smith."

The constant admission of cold air into the formace The constant admission of cold are into the furnace, materially reducing the temperature of the beated garres, is, by this system of feeding, avoided, and competent judges will doubtless agree, that this feature mions readers the apparatus deserving a trial. A number of pellers fitted with the apparatus have been at work for some time in Russin, burning straw, in Egypt cetton stalks, and in India the refuse of the Indigo plant, and in all cases with the most successful results. By means of this apparatus small branches

This case presents a singular flatement of facts. It uppears that after the decease of S. Pohi one John II, together with one Sylva were appointed administrators of his estate at Lahaina, Mani, as having died intestate, by the Circuit Judge of that district, on the 25th of January 1872.
